French Prepared to Print Money if

(By the Associated Press)

Essen, Feb. 16.—Essen was the storm center today in the Ruhr, where the friction between the French and the Germans has increased because of Thursday night's shooting of two French soldiers by Security police in a cafe brawl.

In retaliation for this shooting, General Fournier ordered a battalion of French infantry to occupy the German police barracks. The chief of police was arrested, all the files and documents at police headquarters were taken by the French and the disarming of the police was begun.

The shooting of the French soldiers took place when eight of them, on duty, entered the cafe and the waiters refused to serve them.

A member of the Security police appeared at the door of the cafe when the brawl began, and the French contend that he was the first person to begin shooting.

The directors of the Essen electric plant, Herr Buggemann, was sentenced by the French court martial at Dreden today to pay a fine of five million marks for alleged interference with the French on Monday after the taking over by the French of the Kaiserhof hotel, which is the headquarters of General Coate, head of the industrial mission in the Ruhr. The directors facilitated the cutting off of the light of the hotel when the boy-boats started with the waiters refusing to serve the French.

Burgomaster Haeverstein of Oberhausen, who was arrested for disregarding French orders, also was tried by the Dreden court martial for disregarding French orders. He was convicted and sentenced to two years imprisonment.

Large crowds gathered outside the building where the court martial was held, but the French soldiers on guard prevented close approach to the building. No serious trouble occurred.

General Fournier has notified the burgomaster's office that all allied soldiers, as well as all allied civilians, are entitled to make purchases in the stores of Essen and to be served in restaurants and cafes, that any keepers of such places who refuse to sell will run the risk of having their places closed or requisitioned. The Germans claim that the food situation around Roehm is serious.

Delegates from the Brandenburg People's alliance, one of the largest associations in Germany, have been meeting at Bochum with the steel representatives. It was decided at this meeting to transfer 500,000 children into the country, where many hundreds already have been sent. It was stated that the association has nearly 3,000,000,000 marks which have been subscribed for the benefit of children.

France May Print Marks.

Paris, Feb. 16.—France is ready.

Under an agreement with Belgium, to set her printing presses at work turning out German marks for use in the Ruhr if the German government starts a financial blockade of the occupied region. The Associated Press was informed tonight to issue an authority.

The original plan to issue an entire new currency guaranteed by the resources of the Ruhr has been abandoned because of the numerous complications that would arise with two kinds of money in circulation when the final settlement comes.

There has been plenty of marks to meet all requirements in the Ruhr thus far, and the French officials are sure that the Germans will not urge them to resort to the printing of marks on their own account, but if they do the French declare they will proceed to issue all the currency needed and will require the German government to honor it when the Ruhr occupation is terminated.

A press dispatch from Washington says that Dr. Otto Wiedemann, German ambassador, was soliciting American assistance to feed 500,000 people staying in the occupied Ruhr district, caused a mild sensation today in French official circles.

It was pointed out that a report on the food situation in the Ruhr issued eight days ago, by Dr. Luther, burgomaster of Essen, and food minister in the Cuno government, stated that no preparation was provided with flour and potatoes sufficient to last until March 12.

The burgomasters of Bochum, Duisburg and Dusseldorf have refused to accept the establishment of French posts in their municipalities. It was added, as they said, they were able to care for themselves.

The French view is that any such appeal for assistance for the Ruhr as reported from Washington is un-

FIND SARCOPHAGUS OF TUTANKAMEN

Many More Rich Splendors and

(By the Associated Press)

Luxor, Egypt, Feb. 16.—Opening of the mortuary chamber in the tomb of King Tutankhamen today showed the sarcophagus of the pharaoh to be still in the same position in which it was placed by his mourners more than 3,000 years ago.

When the exploring scientists, after removing the delicate seals, broke their way through the masonry of the inner chamber door, they were confronted with splendor which, upon the first cursory examination, appeared to surpass even those of the ante chamber which have held the interest of the entire world.

The exploring party, headed by Howard Carter, exclaimed with amazement at finding the center chamber, which is about 14 feet square, occupied by an immense gilded canopy richly inscribed.

The canopy was closed, but there is a door, and the opening of this revealed inside what is undoubtedly Tutankhamen's crown. The crown, incidentally, however, this was left undisturbed.

A Canopic jar, which probably contains the heart and other internal organs of the king, was found inside.

One feature of the discovery in the inner chamber was a magnificent statue of a cat, richly painted, which has stood sentry over the dead pharaoh through the centuries he has lain there. The chamber is filled with splendid furniture, in orderly array. It also holds several superb gold chalices, an exquisite ivory and ebony vase and many beautiful alabaster vases.

"Marvelous! I congratulate you," exclaimed Prof. Breasted to the Earl of Carnarvon when the earl and Mr. Carter and the other members of the party emerged from the tomb.

ABANDONS EMBARGO ON COAL PROPOSAL

Washington Officials Hold View
Stopping of Shipments to Canada Would Have Little Effect

Washington, Feb. 16.—The proposal for an embargo on anthracite exports, especially to Canada has been fully considered and definitely abandoned, it was said today at the White House. In view of high government officials an embargo would have no material effect on the coal shortage which is being experienced in sections of New York and New England.

Efforts of the government to relieve the shortage will be confined, it was said, to an endeavor to provide adequate rolling stock and to expedite movement by rail to the affected areas.

The proposal that a federal commission be authorized to investigate the subject of car supply also has been dropped. President Harding is known to have placed the proposal before prominent members of the senate and house, but the reaction in both houses was said to have convinced him it would be unwise to press for action. Suggestions were made, according to administration officials, which would have broadened the inquiry to take in practically the entire transportation field and recommendations as to the representation on the committee made it apparent that the body, to meet all demand, would be too unwieldy to function.

PROMISES REVELATIONS OF SHOCKING CHARACTER

(By the Associated Press)

Washington, Feb. 16.—Revelations which "will shock the conscience of the country" were promised tonight by Major General Adelbert Cronkhite, commander of the 80th division, in his first public statement regarding the circumstances surrounding his recent enforced retirement from the active roll of the army.

Repeating his charge that he was taken out of active service because of the attention he was giving to investigation of the death of his son, Major Alexander P. Cronkhite, mysteriously killed in 1918 at Camp Hale, Wash., the general asserted that in what he does he was only "performing the duty to which he was assigned."

Topics for discussion, in addition to improvement of rural district medical service, the primary aim of the conference, will include narcotic drug control, standards of medical education and research and enforcement of the medical practice act.

Among those invited to attend are officials of the state health department, representatives of county medical societies, deans of medical colleges and specialists in drug control and public health problems.

Authorities Astounded With Simplicity and Audacity During Thieves Showed in Work

New York, Feb. 16.—John F. Derby, alias Marshall, of Albany, was arrested tonight as the ringleader of a gang which, last New Year's eve, robbed Mrs. Irene Schoellkopf of Buffalo of $50,000 of jewels as she was leaving a midnight party at the apartment of Frank Barrett Carman, the actor-artist.

Derby's home was said to have been at 18 Lancaster street, Albany. He is 29 years old. Detectives of Chief Inspector Connelly's staff declared his arrest meant the solution of the jewel mystery.

New York, Feb. 16.—The Schoellkopf robbery, a crime so smoothly carried out as to have astounded the police with its simplicity coupled with audacious daring, was one of the most baffling they ever have had to deal with.

Almost from the first, it was definitely established that a man known as "Mallard" engineered the job, but all efforts of the police to strike his trail, or that of his two accomplices and a woman aide had, until recently, been without avail.

Mrs. Schoellkopf, wife of Charles P. Hugo Schoellkopf, a wealthy Buffalo broker, had been one of nine guests at a New Year's party at the Carman apartment, on W. 52nd street, just a step on Fifth avenue. She had worn a considerable part of the collection of jewels, reported worth over a million, which her husband had bestowed upon her.

ARREST MADE IN ALBANY.

Albany, Feb. 16.—John F. Derby was arrested in the heart of the business section tonight by New York city detectives and Albany police, charged with being the leader of the gang which robbed Mrs. Irene Schoellkopf, of Buffalo, of $50,000 in jewels after a New Year's eve party in New York City. Derby's effort to show flight ended when he glanced into a muzzle.

DISMISS MOTION TO QUASH
HART DEFRAUDING INDICTMENT

New York, Feb. 16.—Federal Judge

Winston today dismissed a motion to quash the indictment charging former State Prohibition Director Harold L. Hart, William Orr and a number of others, with conspiracy to defraud the United States in connection with the illegal sale of liquor. The indictment was alleged to be defective in that it did not specify the federal statute alleged to have been violated.

Maxwell S. Muckuck, assistant United States attorney, contended that it was unnecessary to specify any particular statute, for the reason that the conspiracy alleged against Hart and the other defendants was to defraud the government, by defrauding the proper administration of the duties of the collector of internal revenue.

TWO GAMES AT NORMAL

Normal Wins First Game, 27-6, From Half Moons.

The representatives of the Normal school boys defeated the Half Moons at the Normal court last evening by a 27 to 6 score in a game which took on a rough aspect at times. For the winners, Klane led in the scoring with eight field baskets; Mallett had two field and one foul goals; Packer, Clark and Ferris one field basket each.

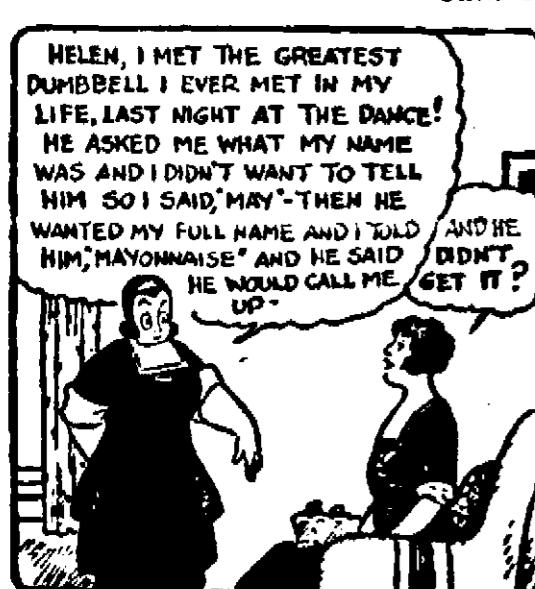

The preliminary controversy was a closely fought affair, which was interesting all the way through. When the final whistle had been blown, the 7th grade was shown to be victorious 4 to 3 over the Dwarfs, another team of youngsters. McMorse and Bulkman had all the credit of the winners' points, a field goal each being the figures. Miller rang the bell from the foul line once and Franklin put the spheres through the iron circle on another occasion from the field, all the scores that the defeated team secured.

Soldiers Take 20 to 17 Rating as Mandate of Speedy William Quisenberry. The Oneonta High school basketball team exacted sweet revenge for its defeat at the hands of Coopersburg 2 some weeks ago by giving the soldiers a thorough and artistic trouncing on the school court last evening. The score, 20 to 17, clearly indicates the measure of separateness of the students. Company G, true to its heritage, fought all the way but the clever floor work and accurate shooting of the Fellow and White units proved too great a handicap. The game was fast throughout but rather rough in spots.

Dillie and Charles were the heaviest point winners for the High school while Delaney and Martin starred for Company G. Thurston Crouthers referred in a very satisfactory manner.

U.S. EATING LESS BEEF PER CAPITA

Agricultural Department Notes Steady Decline Since 1907.

CATTLE NOW GIVE MORE MEAT

Country's Potential Supply Greater, Though Herds Are Smaller—Between 1911 and 1921 There Was a Decrease in Consumption of Beef and Veal in the United States Amounting to 20 Per Cent—Variations in Demand.

Although there are fewer cattle in the United States than in previous years, it is possible to raise more beef than when there were more cattle. This somewhat contradictory statement is explained by the United States Department of Agriculture by noting that more beef cows are kept on ranches and farms and beef cattle are slaughtered at an earlier age.

In a discussion of the American cattle industry during the last 75 years, the Yearbook of the department for 1921 just out, describes the growth and changes of practice. The use of younger cattle for beef, the Yearbook explains, involves the use of more harvested feed to the amount of beef produced. Larger gains in weight are made on harvested feed than when steers were carried four or five seasons on grass.

Big Decrease in Three Years.

The number of cattle has decreased in recent years, the article states, but it is greater than in any year from 1800 to 1917. There has been an increase in the percentage of beef calves, heifers, cows and bulls, and a decrease in the percentage of steer, especially aged steers. The number of cattle in the country increased 10,000,000 from 1914 to 1919, but during the last three years there has been a decrease of 2,000,000 head. However, the greater proportion of cows at present makes it possible to grow more beef, especially if more of the calves involved are refused to insure their

Men who a few years ago were glad to carry policies covering a few head, are now making application for policies ranging from $50,000 to $100,000, and in some instances in excess of the latter amount. Unless they are well known and have a high business standing they are very carefully investigated, and if there is any suspicion as to the source of their income, they are rejected, it matters not how good physical risk the examining physicians decide they may be.

Within the past few weeks one applicant who wanted a policy of $50,000 was rejected on the ground that he was not a good moral hazard, and a little later as applicant who wanted insurance to the amount of $100,000 was told he could not have it. Other applicants from other bootleggers have gone the same way.

"We count the moral hazard as something worth while," said an insurance authority, discussing the business offered his company by bootleggers. "We feel we cannot afford to take on men of this kind, and rather than compromise morals, we refuse all such applications. How do we know they are bootleggers? When we see a man grow suddenly rich, without any visible means, we are suspicious, and a little investigation usually tells us whether we are right or wrong. It might be difficult for us to prove it in court, but we prove it to our own satisfaction, with a reasonable margin of safety."

Whence Inspiration Comes.

The thoughtful suburbanite was talking on the 7:44 out of Umpqua, says the New York Sun.

"Now, some folks," he said, "think best on a rapidly-moving train. Scribner, for instance, told me that he gets most of his movie photo out of the air as he is being rattled along the rails. Others find walking briskly and alone a great stimulus to thought. Some tell me they get their greatest ideas while dawdling in a warm bathtub.

"Personally I find nothing more induces thought than shoveling a heavy fall of snow from our sidewalk and driveway. But unfortunately we don't have more than three or four heavy snowfalls a year."

"So that explains it," murmured Cather, across the aisle. And the first speaker is still puzzling over what he meant.

There seemed no question but the beautiful Golden Gaiola Grace, the heifer, understood

However, the opinion of the club members present differed as to the sentiment Grace was expressing—some thought it was a contented lowing, a greeting to the purveyor of her balanced ration—others thought it was a lamentation as to why the speaker was "throwing the bull." At all events it produced a vast amount of fun for the boys.

TO EXPECTANT MOTHERS

A Letter from Mrs. Ward Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her

Springfield, Ohio.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound proved a splendid medicine for me before my birth and I was born. With the first three I had been sick and weak and had sick headache twice a week. I couldn't eat enough food to do any good, and my work was left undone many a time. My sister-in-law told me to take the Vegetable Compound when I began to have the same old dreadful sickness and headaches and was so worn out. Since then I have only had two headaches, had a good appetite and scarcely lost a meal. I have a fine healthy baby girl who has never had a sick day. The nice part is that I am healthy too. I did not eat a morsel of good, and I should never have another baby will take your medicine at once."—Mrs. Bessie W. Gleason, 287 Park Avenue, Springfield, Ohio.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is an excellent medicine for expectant mothers who should be taken during the entire period. It has a general effect to strengthen and tone up the entire system.

TOPICAL CONSIDERATIONS

With the opening of the spring there will be a goodly number of things of interest for the city of Oneonta in general way to consider, and certainly the best of these will be that of repairing that part of Main street which lies west of Third street. The condition of this part of the street is well understood and there will be no desire on that part of any longer delay the work. There are, however, other matters which in this connection should not be forgotten.

One of these is whether or not the paved portion of Main street through the business section should be widened; and if this is done, whether it should be by taking an equal width from the sidewalks on each side of the street, or from one side of the other. It is certain that Main street, which was laid out long before the world began to dream of street railways, motor trucks or automobiles, is no such thoroughfare as would under present conditions have been planned, and there is no question that in some way the movement of traffic should be facilitated.

Another proposition, as in this column has previously been stated, is that the trolley line from the corner of Chestnut street east on Main be abandoned, and the company permitted to substitute a motor bus line for the present car. There are objections to this on the part of some at least of the residents of the eastern part of the city, and so far as is known, the trolley company itself has not expressed any desire or willingness to make the suggested change.

Both these things are matters which must needs be decided before steps toward repairing are undertaken. In the matter there are at least four parties in interest: the city as a whole, another the immediate residents of the parts, the town directly affected by the suggested changes, a third, the trolley company so far at least as the East End line is affected and a fourth the patronizing public which comes to the city from a large surrounding territory. All these are concerned in the matter, directly or indirectly.

Businessmen, residents and shoppers—are concerned, their interest would doubtless best be served by the wider street, which might permit the parking of more cars, perhaps planting instead of sidewalks to the middle of the street; but a more immediate concern on their part is some convenient and commodious place for parking, not necessarily on Main street, but near enough to it so that no difficulty will be experienced in reaching the business center. Unfortunately no such place of considerable size appears to have suggested itself, but it would be well for each citizen to put on his thinking cap and when a suitable space for parking is found to make note of it.

Another thing which was last fall considered and after an unfavorable vote as to the employment of an out-of-town expert was apparently allowed to drop out of mind, is the zoning proposition. No matter whether it is necessary or even important to employ an expert, there is no question as to the desirability of some definite rulings as to location of business places, manufacturing establishments, the front line of residences upon lots and other matters which are not merely of individual concern, but which affect the value of all property in the vicinity. In one way or another, it would appear that the zoning problem should not be left unsolved.

None of the things referred to above are in any sense new matters. They have been discussed frequently in both the local and editorial columns and they are quite well which have had and are having the consideration of the Chamber of Commerce and naturally also of the city administration. They are referred to again, however, though there is an abundance of snow on the ground and almost a certainty that the weather will be cold by the thermometer, the spring is close at hand and it is time to come next month. They are vital issues and it can do no harm at this time to jog the minds of our citizens as to what they think, and what they will favor doing about them.

PROMISES CHEAP POWER

Interesting New Auto Motor Invented by Swedish Engineers

Stockholm, Feb. 16.—An automobile owner in Sweden is interested in the statement that a motor has been invented and tried out here which brings down the cost of power to one-fifth of the present figure.

The new motor is light, compact, has very few parts, can be operated by anyone, and is the invention of Arthur Wenner, a Swedish engineer. It burns crude oil and develops speeds ranging all the way from 20 to 1,000 revolutions per minute. That is a remarkable accomplishment in view of the fact that ordinary automobile motors develop only 100 to 1,200 revolutions. The new motor is fireproof, and, since it uses no carburetor, breakdowns are impossible.

The experiments are being made with a 30 horsepower, two cylinder, two cycle engine which has an intake valve ordinary seven horsepower crude oil engine. The cylinders are water-cooled outside, and air-cooled inside, in spite of the high speed, no overheating takes place. A feature of the machine is the simplicity of construction, the complicated devices that usually are in motors having been eliminated. The engine is primed with gasoline.

WHAT THE PAPERS SAY

A Code For Judges

The issuance on Monday of new three-cent stamps bearing Lincoln's portrait and new dollar stamps bearing a picture of the Lincoln Memorial was an incident of great interest to philatelists and some time there will doubtless be fabulous prices paid for specimens authentically certified as being from among the first sold or otherwise 12 respectively. Hodgesville, W. Va., is holding the most important exhibition of the year in philately. However, after all, only one of many which will occur this year of extraordinary interest to stamp collectors. —New York Tribune.

A Code For Judges

An code of ethics for the guidance of judges in their professional and private lives, framed in whole or in part by the Chief Justice of the United States and having the approval of the American Bar Association, will, as a matter of course, be given the respectful consideration of both bar and bar. The code prepared under such distinguished auspices as this is now published for information of the legal profession and for such criticism as may arise before its final adoption. —Philadelphia Ledger.

Standard Oil Salaries

A seven sub-committee investigating the oil industry has found out what salaries are paid to the executive heads of some of the Standard Oil companies, and in making public the information it has satisfied a popular curiosity of long standing. The President and the Chairman of the Board of the New Jersey company, it seems, both receive $125,000 a year. Vice Presidents receive $100,000 each, and officers of the New York company are only less liberally remunerated, the President getting $100,000. Salaries of $40,000 and $50,000 for directors are numerous. —New York World.

The Unusual

We asked the telephone girl at the great railway station her impression of the people who crowded up to the booths all day long. "Oh," she said, "mostly I don't notice particularly. I only look as if there's something unusual—like somebody saying 'Thank you.'" —Colliers.

The Lack of Care

Out of more than $17,000,000 spent last year in the care of the insane in this state, $4,385,331 was spent to care for the alien insane.

There are thousands of those persons who have never contributed in taxes a cent toward defraying the expenses of government, and many of them should not have been admitted to the country.

In three years this state has been compelled to pay out $18,000,000, in round numbers, for the care of alien insane who have been admitted to this country through the laxity of our immigration laws or the inactivity of their enforcement.

The principal burden falls upon New York state because most of the immigrants enter the port of New York.

These figures and facts have been pointed out by the State Lamey Commission, but nothing seems to come of it. The condition is not improved and the injustice continues. —Utica Observer-Dispatch.

GOOD YEAR FOR MILLERS

Industry Better in 1923 Than in 1921—Prospects Are Favorable.

(By the Associated Press.)

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 16.—The milling industry was better in 1922 than in the preceding year, and the prospects for 1923 are favorable, dependent upon the crop of wheat in the northwest, millers here declare.

These declarations followed statistical reports which showed that 17,445,932 barrels of flour were shipped from the 26 mills here in 1922 as compared to 16,645,186 barrels the year previous. Mill stuffs also showed an increase in shipments, 476,940 tons being forwarded from here last year compared with 462,334 in 1921.

"With the northwest sustaining three crop failures out of five last season it is impossible to predict the prospects for the coming year but with a good average wheat crop again this year, millers should enjoy a better business in 1923 than the preceding year," F. M. Crosby, of the Washburn Crosby company, declared.

Officials of other milling companies here held similar views, one stating the "milling situation is healthier now than at the same time a year ago."

Local mills ran at capacity only a few weeks of the year, averaging about 70 per cent for the twelve months.

It was pointed out by Mr. Crosby that economic conditions have little or no effect upon the milling industry, the crop being the only factor. A crop failure in the northwest brings the mills to face with a shortage of wheat and puts them at a disadvantage with mills in other portions of the country.

Hope for relief from rust in the crops through the barberry eradication campaign was held out by Mr. Crosby. "We should feel the effect of the several years destruction of these bushes in better crops this year," he added.

AMERICAN AUTOS SUPREME

Birmingham, Eng., Feb. 16.—Fifty thousand American automobiles may be brought into England during 1923 against a local production of 25,000 cars. In the opinion of Sir Herbert Austin, M. P., and British manufacturers should combine in order to reduce their production costs.

Sir Herbert was addressing a meeting of the National Union of Manufacturers when he warned British carmakers of this American competition. Referring to British efforts to regain colonial markets in this field, he said American selling prices were remarkably low. Prices to agents were less than the factory than British makers were paying for material for similar cars. Although American labor was much paid, he said the American workers to be as hard as the English. English manufacturers of component parts sold on a low margin, some charge hardly covering the cost. For instance, the British workers had something to learn in this respect.

Will call me and give me a hundred for paper to take and bundle, $1.00 per hundred for all kinds of book stock. Also junk and any kind of metal for 20 cents starting Feb. 1, 1923. J. Egan, 37 River street.

SUPREME COURT CALENDAR

Forty-One Cases Noticed For Trial by Plaintiff or Defendant, or Both, at February Term in Cooperstown.

There are only forty-one cases noticed for trial at the term of supreme court which opens at the court house in Cooperstown next Monday, a number not large as compared with some other years, but at least indicative of the cheering fact that the love of litigation, like the lust for battle, is dying in the heart of man. Justice A. L. Kellogg of Oneonta will preside.

The first case on the calendar is that of Ella W. Holdredge vs. the city of Oneonta, an action for damage from the overflow of Silver creek during the summer of 1921. Others early on the calendar are Harold M. Briscoe vs. Theodore Smith, an Oneonta suit to recover on a note; Van Etten Brothers vs. the Oneonta Cement Products company and Bayard Bigelow, also to recover on note; John M. St. Clair vs. the D. & H. company, a negligence action, the plaintiff alleging serious injuries received in an accident. Other cases against the same company are those of Mike Benedict and Charles C. Moher, these being the only cases in which the D. & H. is a party.

A second case against the city of Oneonta is that of Dorothy L. Gould, a negligence case in which damage and injury is alleged through the imperfect condition of the Main street pavement near Sixth street. A considerable number of other cases have grown out of automobile accidents, four of them being brought by Leon A. Case, Ruth B. Loll, George L. and Leon A. Case and Marion L. Whitmarsh against the A. W. Groveson Co., Inc. The first of five cases growing out of the same accident was tried at the fall term of supreme court. Altogether there are no less than twelve cases among the 41 in which automobile play a part.

Among the actions there are four for divorce, the parties being: Robert J. VanDyke vs. Anna O. VanDyke, William E. Bunnell vs. Mary Bunnell, Lewis E. Eckert vs. May L. Eckert and May Kenyon Yates vs. Franklin Yates.

Another action of local interest is that of Mrs. Jennie M. Coats vs. the United Presbyterian congregation in this city, a suit to enforce an alleged agreement. The question at issue is the right of the respective parties in the occupancy of the parsonage building on Dietz street, which has for a number of years been occupied by the plaintiff as a boarding house.

GOING OVER THE TOP.

Boy Scout Drive Shows a Membership Gain of Ninety-Five Per Cent.

With an active force of twenty-four the Oneonta Boy Scouts have secured forty-two new members during the past week. This is indeed an excellent achievement and one which shows the spirit of scouting. There were forty-four registrations last year, however, which puts the percentage of increase in membership to a little over ninety-five per cent. And there were twenty-four reregistrations.

A banner will be given to the region which shows the largest gain by President Harding, and the banner will carry his autograph. Master streamers with a facsimile of that autograph will be given to councils and troops, while in special cases the National council may present shoulder streamers to troops.

All Scouts formerly of troops 1 or 3 of the city have until tonight to register at the office of Dr. C. L. Beiderman. Any who register today will count in the competition, and Mr. Beiderman expects that several will take advantage of this opportunity.

If a sufficient number of older Scouts can be kept together Mr. Judge plans to give them considerable time.

On Monday the instruction of the new Scouts will begin under the Eagle patrol, whose leader is Harry Stolt, a first class Scout.

An Illustrated lecture of great interest will be given at the evening service at the Central Baptist church on Sunday.

THE LAND OF MYSTERY

Interior Abu Seybolt Gives Absorbing Illustrated Lecture on Egypt Before Men's Club of First Presbyterian Church.

Egypt, the land which is now engaging the attention of the civilized world by reason of the momentous archeological discoveries being made there, cast its spell of charm and mystery over the members of the Men's Club of the First Presbyterian church last evening as they sat for nearly two hours viewing stereopticon slides depicting views in that far-off land and listening to the intensely interesting explanations and comments of Attorney Abu Seybolt. Speaking from a first hand knowledge gained during his Mediterranean travels just a year ago, Mr. Seybolt drew a graphic picture of Egypt as it is today and took his auditors back thousands of years to the day of splendor of the land of the Khedives.

Before the showing of the pictures Mr. Seybolt told the men why Egypt is known as the "cradle of civilization." He pointed out that man has existed for over 250,000 years but it was not until about seven or eight thousand years ago that human existence first took on a civilized form, with laws, education and clearly defined social and religious customs. Egypt was the location of that civilization and the pyramids, obelisks and temples whose ruins now scatter the country are remnants of the day when that civilization was at its zenith.

Mr. Seybolt took his audience on a tour of the Great Delta of the Nile, speaking of the beauty and fertility of the country, and led them about Cairo, the famous city at the foot of the Nile valley. An excursion to the Great Pyramids, the mammoth tombs of the heads of the Egyptian dynasties, was then made. Thereon up the Nile the trip continued to Luxor and Karnak, described by Herodotus as the city of a hundred gates. The way thence to the Nile to the Valley of the Tomb of the Kings, the locality in which the momentous discoveries of the present moment are being made.

In describing the pyramids, temples and other ruins, Mr. Seybolt laid stress on the magnificence of the workmanship and the stupendous nature of the engineering feats which the ancients had accomplished. Modern architects and builders could well take lessons from the master workmen of tens of centuries ago, he stated.

Following the lecture, which proved to be one of the most enjoyable ever given before the Men's club, light refreshments were served and a social hour was enjoyed, with Mr. Seybolt the willing target for scores of questions concerning his travels.

Greece Nearly Overwhelmed by Refugees From Turkey Until Aid Comes From American Red Cross

Adding a new chapter to the history of American charity and to the promptness in aiding other nations to cope with colossal emergencies, the American Red Cross has come to the aid of the Greek Government in meeting the problem of caring for more than a million refugees fleeing from Turkish-occupied territory. Judge John Barton Payne, chairman of the American Red Cross, at the request of Dr. A. Ross Hill, vice-chairman in charge of foreign operations, has borrowed Col. William N. Haskell of the American Relief Administration, to carry on work which Dr. Hill began last October. To date the American Red Cross has spent more than $2,000,000, most of which was drawn from its disaster emergency fund, and even this big sum will not meet the needs. The problem of caring for wave after wave of refugees—equaling in number more than one-fifth of the population of Greece, herself—is enough to challenge the ability of such men as Judge Payne, Colonel Haskell and Dr. Hill.

With a total territory slightly more than that of Ohio and a population less than Greater New York, the housing alone is an appalling task which the Greek Government faces. And as if this were not enough the detention by the

Front Trimming for Dresses

Copyright by G. C. G.

Most of the spring frocks are trimmed in front and remain severely plain to the back. The trimming is in the shape of a stylized scroll, and merges into the line of the frock. The motifs sketched exhibit the popular front panels and jacket draperies that are being worn and where appropriate. Paisley and Persian fashions are still the favorite patterns, especially as well as being much in demand for coarse tweeds.

AMERICA SIXTH IN NEW TONNAGE

GERMANY IS SECOND ON LIST

Work Now Under Way in All Countries Totals 2,964,318 Tons, Says Lloyd's Register—Still Well Under the 1914 Total in the Amount of Work on Which Construction Is Actually Proceeding—Great Britain in Lead.

Although world shipbuilding is now slightly above the prewar figure in the volume of orders placed, it is still well under the 1914 total in the amount of work on which construction is actually proceeding, says a statement just issued by Lloyd's Register of Shipping, covering reports for the quarter ended December 31.

Contracts involving the building of 664,000 tons of merchant vessels have been suspended throughout the world. Of this amount, it was stated, 348,000 tons represent the orders on which work has been stopped in Great Britain and Ireland alone. The reports show a further drop in the amount of tonnage building in American shipyards, the total now being below the prewar figure of 145,000 tons.

Comparisons for the two quarters in gross tons follow:

| | Jan. 1 '22 | Oct. 1 '22 |
|---------------------------|------------|------------|
| United States | 139,448 | 140,425 |
| Great Britain and Ireland | 1,063,509 | 1,017,945 |
| Other countries | 1,304,271 | 1,341,935 |
| World total | 2,964,318 | 2,702,546 |
| Less Germany and Danzig | 444,817 | |
| Actual comparison | 2,520,501 | |
| Shows a Loss. | | |

The actual showing for the last quarter is a loss in unfinished orders of more than 200,000 gross tons. If consideration is given, however, only to construction on which work is actually proceeding, the present total is shown to be more than half a million gross tons below the prewar level, even including the work in Germany and Danzig. Taking into account the suspensions of work ordered throughout the world, Lloyd's Register gives the following comparative table of gross tons of shipping being built now and before the war:

| | Jan. 1 '22 | July 1 '14 |
|---------------------------|------------|------------|
| Great Britain and Ireland | 1,120,529 | 1,247,000 |
| Other countries | 1,380,719 | 1,390,719 |
| World total | 2,300,318 | 2,546,000 |

These figures show a reversal of prewar conditions, in that British shipyards, which in 1914 were building 50 per cent more tonnage than all the other maritime countries combined, are now constructing less than half of the world's output. There are some indications of improvement in the British shipbuilding industry, however, in the fact that the steamers and motor vessels on which construction was begun during the quarter just ended aggregated 228,567 gross tons, as compared with only 82,103 tons in the preceding quarter.

In Great Britain.

British launchings during the last quarter were 230,458 tons, as against 206,312 tons in the preceding quarter. And while in the third quarter of 1922 the work being brought toward completion was nearly four times the amount of new work begun, in the last quarter keels laid almost equaled hulls launched.

Launchings for the entire world during the quarter just ended totaled 357,784 gross tons, while new vessels for which work was begun aggregated 344,680 tons, the latter figures excluding Germany. It is evident that the great bulk of new orders being placed are going to British yards.

Construction now as compared with before the war is shown in gross tons in the following table:

| | Jan. 1 '22 | July 1 '14 |
|-------------------|------------|------------|
| Germany | 45,061 | 57,400 |
| Italy | 45,557 | 52,000 |
| France | 38,527 | 42,000 |
| Holland | 32,983 | 35,000 |
| United States | 36,445 | 35,000 |
| Japan | 30,821 | 31,000 |
| British Dominions | 46,245 | 36,000 |
| Danzig | 4,752 | 5,000 |

The peak in world shipbuilding, says Lloyd's Register, was attained in September, 1919, when there were 8,048,000 gross tons of ships under way. The present total of actual construction, therefore, represents a decline of more than 5,000,000 gross tons.

Quells "Terror" on Train

Police Subdue Six-Foot Eight-Inch "Tornado" After Battle.

Melvin Felix, twenty-six years old and six feet eight inches tall, is in jail at Sioux City, Ia., charged with disturbing the peace, and members of the crew and passengers of a Burlington train, after shooting him as a result of a reign of terror. Felix is alleged to have created on the train en route to Sioux City. The train crew telephoned ahead, notifying police here that a "Nebraska tornado" was on the way. A reception committee of two officers, who awaited Felix at the station, had a lively scuffle before he was subdued.

Drops Dead Choking Well.

Just as he began to tell his lawyer about the changes he wished to be made in his will, W. H. Laredo, forty years old, of Chicago, fell dead of heart disease. The old will disposed of an estate of $150,000, which is divided between his widow and two grown sons. The will was made in 1919, and the estate is thought to have increased considerably.

Boys Coast Unhurt Under Moving Train

Michael Lynch, ten years old, and Tony Pedemoto, twelve, of Caldwell, N. J., recently coasted down a steep mountain slide and passed over a fast-moving passenger train number. Several persons saw the sled and passengers came from beneath the train. The boys said they did not hear the train and had passed to safety before they knew of the danger.

MANY OLD SCORES EVENED

Stenographer Improved Glorious Opportunity to Administrator a Gentle Rap to Her Fellow Workers.

The stenographer in a business office in a southern Indiana town had endured many jests based on her single state and the number of her birthdays. Chief among her tormentors had been the "boss," whose own birthday had passed the half-hundred mark, but whose appearance belied it. He took great pride in this latter fact.

One morning the stenographer answered the telephone, to hear her brother's voice inquiring for "the old man," meaning their father, also employed in the office. She did not approve of thus mentioning her father, and she saw, too, a way to repay some of the jests of which she had been the object.

"Old man?" she inquired. "Well, there are several old men around here; just to which one do you have reference?" she asked in a tone that was absolutely all over the office.

Absolute silence for several minutes was followed by the voice of the "boss," repeating, "Several old men around here."—Indianapolis News.

Telephones in Finland.

Finland is a country about which we in the United States hear little, but it is nevertheless on the map telephonically speaking. Although accurate statistics are difficult to get, the latest reports indicate that there are in Finland about 45,000 telephones and a considerable number of interurban toll lines, all operated by private companies. In view of the fact that the population of the country is only 3,500,000, this represents a creditable telephone development, one which in fact exceeds that of France, Italy, or Belgium.

DATE HAS HIGH FOOD VALUE

Fruit Not Properly Appreciated, According to Experts of the Department of Agriculture.

According to the Atwater bulletin on food composition issued by the United States Department of Agriculture, the dried date is composed as follows: Carbohydrates, 70.0 per cent; protein, 1.0 per cent; fat, 2.5 per cent; water, 13.6 per cent; ash (minerals), 1.2 per cent; refuse (fiber), 10 per cent.

The protein and fat content, though small, is in a way valuable, for the protein as a builder and the fat as a fuel," writes Dr. Charles L. Bennett. "A man who includes two pounds of dates as the bulk of a day's ration will not require much additional protein. In fact, a pure date dietary meets the requirements of many Arabs in every-day activities for long periods at a time, without the addition of other foods."

"The value of the date as a food is not half appreciated by the American public," writes another authority, Dr. John Harvey Kellogg. "The date not only furnishes a variety of sugar which is readily assimilated and which is much more wholesome than cane sugar, but it also supplies a fine quality of food iron, which is entirely lacking in cane sugar. An ounce of dates in fact, supplies one-third more food iron than an ordinary beef-steak and iron of much finer quality."

Foolish Question 75683.

A negro cut off one of his toes while chopping wood. He went to a doctor to have the wound dressed and as the doctor looked at it he said, "Sam, did you cut it off clean that way at one blow?" "Well, now, doctor," replied Sam, "do you think I'd take a second blow at it?"

Owl Keeps Down Mice Population.

Every barn-door owl accounts each year for something like a thousand mice. You can see what a mighty hunter he is if you happen to discover the dark hole in which he has made his home, for the ground all round will be strewn with little rolls of fury skin from his victims.

THE WIDOW'S THIRD

Do you intend to leave only one-third of your personal estate to your widow and two-thirds to be divided equally among your children—or, if you have no children, one-half to your widow and one-half to your "next of kin"?

This sort of distribution may not meet your wishes in the least, but if you are a citizen of New York and should die intestate tomorrow, that is how your property would be divided by an administrator appointed by the court.

The LAW partitions your property with a rough hand, but it is within your power to dispose of it as you wish—outright if you deem it prudent—otherwise in trust. Have a competent lawyer draw your will, and then obtain all the advantages offered by a skilled organization by making the Wilber National bank your Executor and Trustee. Or, better still, come in and have a preliminary consultation with us. Our Trust Department will gladly explain to you the fundamental provisions of wills and indicate how your wishes may be carried out, so that you may talk intelligently with your lawyer.
